THE END OF THE HEEL; EVALUATION & ELECTION

After the eight week heeling competition is concluded, WYBC's General Board meets for the elction of new members. Each heeler is given very careful consideration; in a big comp the election process often takes until dawn to complete. There is no quota in this election; the intent is to elect exactly as many qualified men as the competition yields. This number can range from a half dozen to a half hundred.

The following evaluations will be given the general board at the election meeting:
1. A report from the vice-chairman, based on your exams and your individual project, plus any other pertinent facts.
2. Reports from the chief announcer and chief engineer on air competence.
3. A GRADE and report from your head supe.
4. A GRADE and report from your department head.
5. A GRADE from the executive board based on your executive interview.
(Grades are on a 0 to 5 scale.)

Thus, by the end of the heel, you should:
1. acquire complete practical engineering competence.
2. know the station's day-to-day procedures and programming.
3. complete your day projects, department projects, and individual projects.
4. brown-nose every member in sight. (This is not essential, but it doesn't hurt.)
5. get your FCC license.

MEMBERS WILL NOT VOTE FOR HEELERS THEY DO NOT KNOW. Therefore, INTRODUCE YOURSELVES, and good luck....
